My Friends,

Thank you for the support which I know has been a bit empty without you here with us to enjoy it. I hope this finds you healthy and well, playing off with those you love while we navigate our new (temporary) reality.

Despite so many unknowns, we are busy here at the theater figuring out how to ensure that when we are ready to get back up and running, we can enjoy each other’s company, whatever we do next – sharing powerful, moving, human stories together in one room, breathing the same air, laughing at the same jokes, and reminding each other that we are always in this together.

We had to hit pause on our production of Assassins but, as you can see behind us, the theater awaits your return. We are making a pick-up whenever we left off some time this summer. We are also very much hoping to reenergize our production of Amy Herzog’s beautiful Mary Jane into next season, in addition to the spectacular lineup of plays we just announced.

I may feel a bit lonely now, but over the next year we will more than make up for this bump in the road and I hope you will be in the audience for every show! If there is a silver lining out there, it will be the gathering we all feel to be in together and connecting in person – a thrill that the digital world can never replace.

As soon as we finalize dates, we will be reaching out to subscribers and ticket holders to exchange your current seats into rescheduled performances.

Please know how much we appreciate your continued support. As a small business we provide jobs for actors, administrators, technicians and costumers – and we are counting on you all, the very heart of our organization, to help us through this incredibly trying time.

We are hurtling right now. The area comfort we have in each other, the knowledge we share, and our understanding of the challenges that face us. We know we will be here for each other where we get on the other side of this. This too shall pass. I can’t wait to see you back at the theater.

With love and respect,
Tony Estrella
